

FINANCES

Finances are integral to planning for your college experience. To help support you in this area, this section has been split into two sections. First, there is information about many of the terms and policies that relate to paying for your education. Then, there is information about how to manage your personal finances. Remember, you do not need to navigate your finances alone. Student Success Coaching, (along with the other financial resources listed at the end of this section), is here to help you!

Pre-Chapter Reflection:

How do you
define success
with regard to
finances?
